V. F. PALMER, the American Newspaper Agent, is the only authorized Agent for this paper in the Cities of Boston, New York, and Philadelphia, and is duly empowered to take delivery and subscription at the rates required by law. His office will be regarded as permanent. His office—Bonner, Scoll's Building, New York. Tribune Building, Philadelphia, & Co., Court Street and Chestnut Street.

W. S. Symmer, General Newspaper and Advertising Agent, No. 14 Second Street, opposite the Post Office, St. Louis, Mo., is the regular Agent for this paper.

Country South of the Kansas River.

An exploring party, consisting of Messrs J. C. & Wm. Couch, and others, recently started from Parkville on a tour through the country on the Waukansas, and on the Marais des Cygnes (pronounced, Ma-dee-zon); and to the people most familiar, we are indebted for the memoranda from which the following paragraphs are arranged. We are also under obligation to him for a fine specimen of pure bituminous coal, to which reference is made below:

Setting out from Parkville, we have no specimens observations to record, until we came on the Waukansas. We passed up this river on the south side, over some fine prairies, high and rolling. The bottoms appeared to be rather low,—the timber averaging from a quarter to a mile wide; we saw a few springs of good water. We struck up the Waukansas for about 30 miles, when we turned off south, and our course now was for 15 miles over high prairie, till we struck the timber on the waters of the Marais des Cygnes. Here we found numerous fine streams, well timbered—the wood averaging a mile in width—high rich bottoms—timber consisting, for the most part, of burr-oak, walnut, mulberry, and cedar—green—trees tall, and wood make fine lumber.

Below the Ottawa, and down through the Peoria and Kickapoo country, there is an extensive body of splendid timber—we should say, not less than 10 miles wide, and 15 miles long. The prairies between the rivers are well adapted for farms. These are undoubtedly timber enough on the headwaters of the Marais des Cygnes to fence in for agricultural purposes, at least 60 miles square.

There is, besides, an almost inexhaustible supply of fine rock, for building and paving purposes. The springs do not appear to be very numerous, but the drought may have temporarily exhausted many of them—and the probability is that excellent water for household use will be found in abundance when the settlers come in. The water in the channels looked clear and cold; while there is no scarcity of stock-water, and ample range. The pine-forest grows here in dense, almost impenetrable masses—the bottoms extend from one to three miles in width, and are covered with rich winter grass—where stock may be left throughout the entire cold season, without extra feeding, and keep in strict order.

Here it must be noted, that those who never comes in this region of country, should chance find out John King, an intelligent Ottawa, who will give all needed information to new-comers, show them good clause, &c.; he can be implicitly relied upon, for he has an accurate knowledge of this whole range of country.

We saw a fine mill site near the mouth of Waukansas Creek; near by, there were signs of a camp, and a large spring.

The Ottawa tribe at present own a tract 10 miles square, and they think of keeping it; while the smaller tribes talk of taking their reserves on Bull Creek and North Sugar Creek.

On the whole, the section of Kansas Territory over which we have travelled is capable of being made one of the best in the new country, although at present it is greatly overlooked. The coal, of which we gathered some excellent specimens, crops out on the Waukansas, and doubtless extends across the country, southeast to the Missouri River, where it again comes on surface, and is obtained in large quantities in the vicinity of Westport. There are excellent roads to Kansas City, which is the nearest commercial point to this fine region of country.

Astronomical, very!

T. H. Stance, Esq., of the Missouri Sun, put the following interesting little paragraph in his paper the other day:

"The editor will be absent for a few days. During his absence, Col. T. T. Frazee will take charge of the editorial department of the Sun."

Col. Frazee, like the ghost of Hamlet's father, could 'tale unfold' and like the silent spectre, to tell his story, with this difference—the ghost spoke secretly to Hamlet, just as Col. Frazee told upon Tom to his numerous adherents.

His grand was to be a firmament of new

MARRIED.—In Lexington, Mo., on Monday, the 18th instant, by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Murphy, Thos. M. STARS, Editor of this paper, to Miss MATILDA A. MURRAY, late of Washington Co., Maryland. "High guls spira Ryman's gentle powers, We, who improve his golden hours, By sweet experience know That marriage, rightly understood, Gives to the tender and the good A properd below."

Our friend and former partner has at length consulted his earthly happiness, and entered into a little matrimonial arrangement, "in state of the sweets of consummate felicity," that will prove more pleasant and agreeable than all the newspaper patronage he could desire. He has taken a bold partner of his joys and sorrows, and will prove a solace to him in the dark hours of earthly trials, and whose fond heart will throb with each pulse, whether tossed upon the hollows of adversity, or smoothly gliding over the stream of prosperity. She will always share and soothe the sorrows, and rejoice the latter.

"Oh woman, lovely woman! Nature made thee To temper man, we had her to thank without thee."

And Tom, most sincerely do we wish you and your charming bride a happy and prosperous voyage through life. May you both live long, old age; and when in the "here and ye-llow lea," look around you, and realize at last how great a portion of the important mandates of the grand law. And our Devil, who is a cobbler and a peddler and all on his kin to his neighbors, dole, desire you to accept his congratulations and best wishes for your health, happiness, and prosperity. Having received the gold dollar, he fervently hopes you may have just as many as you want before you die—gold dollars, of course he means. Etc. pro tem.

GROWTH OF PARKVILLE.

—EG. The trade of Parkville Mo., has doubled, within the past year. New houses are continually going up, and every thing goes to show that it will be a point of some note—Democratic Platform.

It preserving enterprise and industry, will do anything for our, rapidly growing town, Parkville will be more than the editor of the Platform says about it—it will be a place of very considerable note.

Not to say anything at present about our fine town site, or its splendid country back of it for many miles, settled on by wealthy farmers who'd altho' trading here—let us refer to the following, which show the wealth of Pettis Township, as appears from the assessment made a few months since. The township items were furnished us by J. F. Broadhurst, Esq.—

Or from them were shipped in 1853, 2300 barrels; that sum quantity will be more than doubled.

One steam flour-mill last year did a business of about $35,000, running only half-time.

Two thousand mills this year are getting as much business as they can do.

INDUSTRIAL LUMINARY, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1854.

LUMINARY.

PARKVILLE, TUESDAY, OCT. 3, '54

There will be Public Worship this (Tuesday) evening. Rev. Mr. Lockwood will preach. Services to commence at 7 o'clock.

Off for Kansas.

Capt. Garrett started for the Blue and Fort Riley last evening; he has been delayed by the want of goods from the East. He has about ten tons of merchandise on board. He expects to get back in two weeks.

See the advertisement of Park & Goodyear's Furniture Hall. They have a large and varied assortment of all kinds of furniture on hand, which they will sell cheap for cash. Call at the room in Park Hall—great bargains can be had.

We saw yesterday, at Cunningham & Bird's, the finest lot of Saddles and Harness of every description, which any one could desire to set eyes on. They have already had to replenish their stock several times this season. Our farmers should give the enterprising firm a call; there never was such first-rate saddlefry manufactured in the Far-West before!

COMMERCIAL.

INDUSTRIAL LUMINARY, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1854.

LUMINARY.

PARKVILLE, TUESDAY, OCT. 3, '54

Agriculture in California.

A letter from California speaks of the great agricultural capacity of that state—30 bushels of wheat from an acre is not considered too great an average yield. The straw is large and stands thick on the ground, the head long and well filled, and the berry large and plump. One instance is mentioned that seems almost incredible—four acres yielding eighty-one bushels to the acre.—Several cargoes of barley and wheat are on their way from San Francisco to New York and Europe. The writer says, "I am capable of saying more, when than all New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, while passing are said to be setting fire want of consumers. The grape is cultivated with great success, and experienced persons from Longworth's establishment superintending the enterprise. Thus it is seen that there is something besides gold—something quite as good, and something that gold cannot always buy, in the soil of the Pacific Commonwealth. If a portion of those who are residing in the cities of California, or unsuccessfully driving in the mines, would but spread themselves over the rich fields of the interior of the State, and have families, it would be vastly better for themselves, the State and the country."

It is exceedingly gratifying at the present time, when the Atlantic and Middle States are suffering from a long protracted drought, which will render the crop thin fall at least from one-third to one-half short of the expectations of farmers, to know that in place of supplying the California market with corn stalks, and grain, she now comes forward and is sending us a large quantity of wheat. It is very evident from what has been already shown of the capacity of California as a farming country, that the export of gold dust from thence will form no longer its own staple produce but it must ere long become one of great grain-producing countries on this continent, if not in the world. At first she was a large consumer of our produce, even up to last year, but in future she will repay us with interest. This is as it should be.

After all, though the crops in the Eastern and Middle States are as uniformly dry and scarce as they are here, the California will send us so largely, as to act upon the market price of grain and have a direct tendency to keep down the otherwise exorbitant prices that would rule. There is, therefore, no actual occasion for the foreboding and sad anticipations in which we find nearly all classes indulging at this time. Throughout New England the crop of hay (and that is a great item) has been far above an average one; and throughout the country more when has been harvested than any year before. The country has been set right—that the short crops are mainly corn and potatoes.

Look on the bright side always in these matters. A kind and provident power is sure to carry us safely and happily through. A little judicious economy should be exercised, of course, and it need be no hardship to comply with the necessity. Let each consumer use a little less of such staples as are actually scarce, than he would do in time of plenty, and the aggregate thus saved will be enormous, fully making up the general deficiency.

Compensation From the Summer Drouth.

We have no doubt in the long continued drouth will result in utter extirpation of myriads of insects, worms, annelidæ, &c., throughout extensive sections of the Union, which have hitherto proved highly detrimental to our valuable crops. A Southern paper says, that the joint-worm has been annihilated in many wheat fields, having become dried to powder before arriving at maturity and shedding their pestiferous brood for another season's ravages.

This is one way that our farmers may be compensated for their summer crop. If they are further compensated in feeding, and they have only to animals that can best digest and make a suitable return for their food, and in an economical manner; if it will further teach them to plant early, and have their fields deeply plowed well pulverized and manured, so as to afford a continued supply of moisture from the atmosphere, during even the driest time they will have received ample compensation for the limited diminution of their present's crop. —[American Agriculturist.

Culture of Hemp and Flax.

Mr. W. D. Porter, in a communication to the National Intelligencer presents interesting facts in relation to the export and demand for hemp and flax and the inducements to their increased culture in this country. According to the statistics as he had gathered, the import of hemp and flax into Great Britain was as follows:

In 1820, 28,239,000 lbs.; in 1839, 193,374,000 lbs., being an increase during these years of 94,136,000 lbs. In 1840, there were imported into Great Britain 157,930,450 lbs. of flax and 102,250,000 lbs. hemp; the average import during the years 1841, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56 lbs. Hemp, Russia exported to Great Britain in 1848, 55,000,000 lbs. hemp, and the United States only 127,506 lbs., making a difference in favor of Russia of $3,885,000, and requires an annual supply of 650,000 lbs. of linseed to be used as seed for sowing purposes; this requires an output of 2,000,000, which goes principally to the southern ports. This causes this American production about 3,000,000; Denmark 7,000 lbs. These countries will be more affected by war, and the above great increase in the demand for hemp and flax will continue in a market, so far as the above named countries are concerned. Hence, shipped to the United States in 1849 about 2,000 tons. There is now on hand about 1,500 tons; the price of which is in each 400 dollars, and on time 500 dollars per ton. There will be required for 1854 10,000 tons, and for other domestic purposes, 1,000 lbs. No Russian hemp will be imported into this country this year; and the demand for it will be for all purposes, home consumption, and for the export abroad of 113,400,000 lbs. of hemp, amount must be raised by the American agriculturist; the value of which is in round numbers about 24,000,000. These are thrown out that our Western hemp growers may take the hint.

Hemp & Flax.—The Sacramento 200 states that the product of ten acres of land gathered from a field of 600 acres on the ranch of Myles Hanchett a Green, on Putah Creek, Yolo county, California, was found to weigh 40,000 pounds, which at sixty pounds to the bushel, gives sixty-six and two-thirds bushels to the acre. This is believed to exceed all precedent.

Tomatoes, seventeen inches in circumference and weighing three pound, have been grown this season by Millgate & Cook, on the Sacramento river, near Sacramento.

The Crops, &c.

There is evidently an attempt making particularly by some of the New York papers, to get up a panic about the drought. The Albany Express, referring to the crop at the corn crop being one-third short of an average yield, says, "If the crop is one-third less than it should be, the ground planted with corn this season will fail a third greater than that planted last year. What loss will be paid by the farmer in increased acreage? In our opinion the amount of corn that will come to market during the approaching season will equal that of any former year. When corn approaches a dollar a bushel, and has a cent a pound, the owner discovers that he can make more by giving away his cattle than keeping them over for another year. In this and the neighboring country every unproductive cow will be converted into beef as early as possible." This fact shows that our meats will be reasonably cheap. The people may have become alarmed over such causes. They forget that the wheat, rye and rice crops were all secured before the drought set in. We will be short on oats, hay and straw, but that there will be any great scarcity of breadstuffs we do not believe for a moment."

Regular Tuesday Packet for Missouri River.

THE new, elegant and fast running Steamer POLAR STAR, Capt. J. H. D. E. T. M., Master, will leave St. Louis every alternate Tuesday at 4 o'clock, P. M.
